PRESS RELEASES:

RADIO MORIA: The loyal royal High Balrog ordered the mobilization of eight companies of breast bowmen from the Shire. While popping various little tidbits into his mouth like sauteed orcs and sundry dwarfs and imps, the High Balrog decided to sand assistance to the hard-pressed Asgardian forces. "Being that we're allies with the Neushirvanese we can't miss a single opportunity to mess up the Gonwonlanese." Rah, rah from the Emperor Doomflatchy also.
Kill a Slav for Satan!

LONDON: Lord Kitchner Battenmount-Zilch announced today his government's policy of peace and brotherhood etc., etc. towards their French Cousins. His Zilchship feels that ANGLO-french accord can and should be the touchstone of international peace etc.

As a token of his friendship, Lord Battenmount-ZILCH is dispatching 100 felons from the NEWGATE prison to participate as human sacrifices in the next GRAND ZORESTERASSTED ORGIE, CLAMBAKE, and BINGO PARTY. (WHOT a swinging state religion--beats all hell out of C of E.)

His Lordship denounces the un-Zorasteric activities of His Stainlessness, Lord Tyrant of the Russias, while encouraging the Albanian Walnut & Burle Growers to establish their independence. In passing, and with three minutes left in the press conference, His Lordship denounced pre-creeping Franz Josephism.

FROM THE NEWSDESK OF RADIO ROMANY, ABCARD THE GYPSIE FLEET:

The unforeseen intervention of the United Empires of Gonwonlane into the Commonwealth War has shifted the uncertain fortunes of battle dramatically in favor of the Babylonian Allies, in the opinion of veteran military experts. The pledge of His Divinity Ptath Thrice-Greatest to mobilize fifty million men for "advisory capacities" has been interpreted as a definite blow to the Asgardian forces. Warlord Ch'i-You, recently elected successor to Kublai Klan as Cathayan Chief Citizen, expressed dismay at this "unwonted interference in the private affairs of Commonwealth provinces and their allies. We must, of course, call for the continued assistance of our Northern neighbors and co-workers for Universal Manifest Destiny in defending the cause of feudalism from Babylonian aggression. The rights of free conquerors can not be so easily trampled underfoot, however many jackboots are summoned by the interventionist lackeys of cosmic conformism."

Ultimate Allied Commander Enkidu of the Allied forces proclaimed his pleasure at the Gonwonlanean assist in the war effort, following so soon upon the annihilation of the 1st, 3rd, and 8th Fianna Armored Chariot Corps. He emphasized that "the cause of liberty and self-determination will surely blossom ever-richer for this heroic fertilization of freedom's roots by the noble men of Leinster. We and our allies vow that this sacrifice of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not be left untoasted and unavenged." Official condolences were accorded the tne thousand families affected by the massacre.

Speaking from the Citadel in Ptath, the Thrice-Greatest assured reporters that his empire's role in the war would simply be one of support, not active intervention. "We seek no territory, no bases, no foothold in the Commonwealth, nor do we wish to appear as more than friends and comrades of the Babylonian people. The fact that we have committed only one-percent of our armed forces, and those only in advisory capacities, shows conclusively tthe sincerity of our position. Our only concern is for the fate of free men everywhere and for the security of liberty in a just, stable, peaceful Cosmic Community of all Mankind. To that end we pledge the life, fortunes, and sacred honor of every citizen of the United Empires."

The question of eventual inter-continual war between Gonwonlane and Asgard has been raised in many quarters. Both All-Father and the Shining One strongly stated their hopes that no such catastrophe would occur, each emphasizing the role of the deterrent-domino principle in staving off wide-spread holocaust. "War, always unpleasant, has at last become unthinkable in the mind of any god or mortal. However, we must prepare for any impossibility and stand firm in meeting aggression on every front, regardless of risk, for the security of all," proclaimed Ptath.

Meanwhile, on the European scene, the sudden replacement, Sunday, of the Ottoman Loyal Minister of Unquestionable Truth and Imperishable Public Information, Omar Ian Flynt, has been credited to a press release leaked to the overseas publication Miskatonic University Quarterly. Appearing in the Winter, 1803 edition of what First Minister Achmed Peter Disraeli termed "the Foreign Agitator Times, a journal dedicated solely and soullessly to fomenting international strife and upheaval," the bulletin appeared critical of the present regime's foreign policies as well as domestic programs. "Further," continued the Turkish emperor in an official diatribe broadcast on the government-owned Dirac stations, "the gross implications of civil unrest contained in allusions to Prince Mohammed Ali Bey, loyal ally and vassal of the Throne, are calculated to merely unleash the raving spectral hounds of groundless fear upon a placid people secure in their domestic tranquility."

No comment had been obtained from Prince Mohammed, currently migrating northward with his twelve clans amid nebulous rumors of pillage and desolation.

CAIRO: The call of Brotherhood of Teamsters, Saltminers, Bricklayers, and Pyramid Workers President Ahmed Reuter ben Moez for a strike of all Goshen bricklayers was greeted with swift retaliation on the part of Pasha Muhammet Ali last week. The pasha issued an edict calling upon all strikers to return to work, and, to guarantee compliance, dispatched General Abdul Fairoe to the scene with a regiment from the crack 1st Camel Corps and a detachment from the 31st Red Flying Carpet Dragoons. Union President Moez now found himself caught in a dilemma: surrender was futile, since the pasha is hardly noted for his displays of affection toward rebels, and to fight was equally hopeless, since the promised Russian arms had--strangely--never arrived. Flight, then, was the only recourse, and the strikers boldly followed Moez in a plunge into the desert. Doggedly pursued by General Fairoe and his troops, the strikers fled north-east.

All seemed lost, though, as Moez and the rebels reached the Red Sea. With the sea blocking their route of escape, the strikers forlornly watched the clouds of dust approach in the distance--clouds foretelling their doom. Just when all hope had fled before the clouds, however, the waters of the Red Sea miraculously parted before a tremendous gust of hot air emanating from the press release mongers of 1966 AR. Hesitatingly at first, and then with shouts of joy, the strikers followed Moez into the heaven-sent breach. Determined to capture his prey, General Fairoe ordered his troops to follow. Unfortunately for the General, one of those singularly rare let-ups in hot air then occurred, with the result that Fairoe and his forces were swallowed up in the onrushing waters.

Players enrolled in 1966 MC are reminded that Spring 1801 moves are due on or before 8 December 1966 c/o Charles Turner, 843 Santa Fe, Albany, California 94706.

Good luck to all.

ERRATA:

The Spring 1804 moves for 1966 AP were botched up very nicely.
The two Russian orders which were mis-transcribed were:
A Galicia to Rumania and A Budapest (S) A Galicia to Rumania.
Both moves succeeded. The Turkish A Rumania was unordered and annihilated. The Russian order A Vienna (S) A Budapest was erroneously underlined.

PRESS RELEASE:

ROME: The Imperial French Third Army, under the command of the Emperor himself, has taken the City of Seven Hills without firing a shot. This was accomplished after a dire threat, on the part of Napoleon, to destroy every brothel within 50 miles of Rome, should any opposition be encountered. This threat left the Pope's Swiss Guards undaunted, but is reported to have thrown the Curia into such a panic that the pope was forced to give in to the French demand for surrender.

AVIGNON: Several new bedrooms are being added to the old Papal Palace here.
